THE STEEL STRIKE.

It has been decided by the courts that employers have the right to go into the open market and hire labor, whether organized or unorganized, and there can be no dispute as to the right of labor to organize, and hardly a question as to its right to remain unorganized. Were conditions otherwise there would be no freedom, and industrial development would be seriously checked. In the present strike it is not a question between employer and employee or a difference of wage scale or of hours, but an attempt on the part of President Shaffer to compel the companies to reorganize unorganized labor. He demands that they compel their men to join the union on pain of being discharged. He would deprive both labor and capital of independence—labor from seeking employment unless under the union and capital from employing other than union men. That this is tyrannical and inconsistent with the best interests of both labor and capital, which should both be unhampered in their rights, no one can seriously dispute, but such is the position of Shaffer.

Judge Maxwell Stevenson of the fifth common pleas court of Philadelphia has just gained for himself considerable unenviable notoriety by discharging a rule which he entered against Secretary Gibbons of the law and order society. The secretary in a hearing before the judge declared that vice was protected in Philadelphia, and because he would not disclose the names of the officials against whom the intimation was made Judge Stevenson entered a rule on him for contempt of court. This he subsequently voluntarily discharged and by so doing showed that his act was hasty and indefensible. The judge evidently went off at half cock.

Some work has recently been done grading on the railroad at Cave bank, but it would be wise for people not to be very sanguine, judging by the past operations of the company, that a road will soon be built. There is most likely an ulterior object in this movement.

The Milford Dispatch has been reduced from eight to seven columns a page and is now the same size as the Press.

Unclaimed Letters. Last of unclaimed letters remaining in the post office at Milford for the week ending July 27, 1901: Miss Grace Williamson, George W. Jacobs, Jr., Mr. Leo Branchu, Isaac W. Smith, Eni T. Kaesik, Giuseppe Botella. Persons claiming the above will please say "Advertised" and give date of this list. CHARLES LATIMER, P. M.

Twelve suspending cables on the big Brooklyn suspension bridge broke recently and car traffic was for a time suspended. Engineers say the bridge was in no danger and repairs will at once be made and regular travel resumed. The trustees and members of the Wickham church of Port Jervis will hold a camp meeting here commencing next Sunday, July 28, at 10 o'clock a. m. There will be preaching by Rev. Geo. N. Shippy and Rev. A. Jason of Goshen, August 4th. Rev. S. Morris and Rev. G. N. Shippy will preach.

Crop Conditions.

Following is the general summary, July 23: Intense heat has prevailed another week throughout the states of the central valleys and middle Rocky mountain region, with only local showers over limited scattered areas. Maximum temperatures of 100° or above were of daily occurrence over more or less of the territory named. Under these conditions the drought has been intensified and its area largely increased. Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, and portions of Nebraska have suffered most, but the conditions are now critical from the lake region, central Ohio valley, and Tennessee westward to the middle Rocky mountain region, including the greater part of Texas. Portions of the middle and south Atlantic states continue to suffer from excessive moisture, but very favorable temperatures have been experienced in these districts and also on the Pacific coast, where the week was cooler than usual.

The outlook for corn is less favorable than at the close of the previous week. In Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Missouri early corn is practically ruined. With early and abundant rains in these states late corn would probably make half a crop or loss. The condition of the crop in Iowa is more favorable than in the before mentioned states, and copious rains, with moderate temperatures within a week, would greatly improve prospects for a large part of the crop. In Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, and Tennessee, more particularly the western portions of the two last named states, corn is now seriously in need of rain. In Illinois the crop has not yet sustained great damage, but will be materially reduced unless the drought is relieved within a week. In the middle Atlantic states the conditions have been favorable for corn, and its condition is further improved.

Moisture has caused considerable injury to winter wheat in shock in the middle Atlantic states. Harvesting continues, where unfinished, in the more northerly sections east of the Rocky mountains and is in general progress on the north Pacific coast.

Spring wheat harvest has begun over the southern portion of the spring wheat region, where, as a result of premature ripening, the yield and quality is much impaired. Over the northern portion, where the crop is now ripening, its condition continues promising. Harvested oats have suffered some injury in shock from moisture in the middle Atlantic states and the unharvested crop from premature ripening in the northwest, while rust has caused injury in New York and Pennsylvania. Good yields are reported from the upper Ohio valley.

Hay is mostly finished and a fine crop has been secured in North Dakota, Minnesota, the lake region, Ohio valley, portions of the middle Atlantic states, and New England.

Throughout the central valleys the prospects for apples have been further reduced, and no improvement is reported from New England and the middle Atlantic states. On the whole the fruit outlook is not encouraging.

W. F. Kimball of Matamoras, who has been visiting in town the past week, was stricken with an epileptic fit last evening and is in a very serious condition. F. F. White has his new home on Fourth street about completed and the grounds are being graded. It is a neat little cottage and a tasty addition to the town.

IN CUBA where it is hot all the year round Scott's Emulsion sells better than any where else in the world. Do not stop taking it in summer, or you will lose what you have gained.

THE CHURCH COLUMN.

A wave of satisfaction went over the congregations of last Sabbath, caused by the palm leaf fans, the gift of Mrs. Maskeil.

The lawn party held on the church lawn last week was a success in every way. Financially as well as socially it equaled our highest expectations. $35 was left after all expenses were met.

The topics for next Sabbath are, "Divine Honor" and "Manasseh, or The End of Sin."

In the afternoon at Union the out door meeting will begin at 3.30. Mr. Wm. Courtright has kindly consented to play for us on the organ.

One week from next Thursday is the fair. Come and see what we have and we will do our best to make you feel at home and glad that you came.

During the month of August the evening sermons will be on the "Saints of the Bible." The characters treated will be Moses, Samuel, Elijah and John the Baptist.

We are glad to see the genial face of Rev. W. R. Neff and anticipate the pleasure of hearing him preach in the near future. His large number of friends will be glad to have him break to them again the "Bread of Life." It may be said to the credit of Milford that those who know it best seem to love it best. It is surely a good place to enjoy what a Lone Islander calls "The Lord's outdoors."

The fifty additional hymnals placed in the pews of the church last week improved very perceptibly the congregational singing. Let all the people praise the Lord. This is our motto. It is a real source of inspiration to the preacher to hear the whole congregation sing.

There will be a sale of home made candy under the auspices of the Epworth League on the church lawn next Thursday, Aug. 1, beginning at 7 o'clock p. m.

OBITUARY.

JOSEPH R. HIXSON. Joseph R. Hixson, general eastern freight agent at the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway with offices at 381 Broadway, N. Y., died suddenly at his home in Elizabeth, N. J., Wednesday, July 24, of heart disease with which he had been suffering for more than a year past. His family was absent from home at the time attending the funeral of a son-in-law, Frederick N. Swinerton, who died in Newark last Sunday. Mr. Hixson was advised to remain at home and was alone at the time with the exception of his little daughter Margaret, a child some six years old. He went out on the piazza to rest on a couch, from which he was observed by a neighbor to slide to the floor. She sought aid and medical attendance was immediately obtained but he was dead. Mr. Hixson was a son of John Hixson and was born in Springtown, Hunterdon county, N. J., about sixty-three years ago. After graduating at Lafayette college he began business in a railroad office and rose to a prominent position with the C. M. & St. P. R. R. He was twice married. One son, E. B., and three daughters by his first wife survive, and a little daughter, Margaret, by his second marriage. The funeral will be held this, Friday, evening. Interment at Frenchtown, N. J.

Fish Warden Harry Garretson of Dingman's yesterday arrested two men from Matamoras for taking undersized bass from the river. Neither Justice Reed nor Canine would hold them and they were discharged.

A ball game between the Bluff House and Port Jervis nines yesterday was won by the latter club. Score 18 to 6.

Progressive euchre will be enjoyed by the guests of the Homestead this evening.

John De C. Van Etten was called to New York today by the death of J. R. Hixson. He was accompanied by his sister, Bessie, who will visit several days in the city.

Married, at the Milford M. E. parsonage, by Rev. C. E. Scudder, pastor, July 25, Frederick Brown and Miss Augusta Reuling, both of Port Jervis, N. Y. Rev. C. B. Carpenter will supply St. Mary's church at Tuxedo Aug. 5. Clovis Loraux, Jr., of Flatbrook, L. I., is a guest with his aunt, Mrs. Kate McCown.

SWEETBREADS IN SEASON.

Delicious Dishes That Will Be Relished at Breakfast or Supper.

At this season of the year sweetbreads are at their best, and properly prepared form many of the most delicate dishes that can be put upon the table. In our grandmothers' days sweetbreads were thrown away with the other "innards," but cooking schools and French chefs have taught us better, says the Washington Star.

Sweetbreads are found in veal and lamb while the animal is still fed on milk. As soon as the creature grows old enough to live on more substantial foods the sweetbreads grow too tough for use. There are two kinds of sweetbreads. One is found in the throat and the other near the heart. The latter is much the more delicate of the two. Veal sweetbreads constitute the bulk of those sold in the markets.

In whatever style sweetbreads are to be cooked, they should always be blanched first. Clean and trim them carefully, then soak in salt and water for two or three hours. After this drain, put in cold water, let them just come to the boiling point and simmer for five minutes to let them whiten and harden.

In boiling sweetbreads a porcelain or agate kettle should be used, and in cutting them a silver knife, as they contain an acid that acts on steel, destroying their delicate flavor. Sweetbreads may be roasted, broiled, scalloped, creamed or made into croquettes, cutlets or salad. A dainty dish for company breakfast or luncheon are sweetbread croquettes.

With a silver knife cut into dice six sweetbreads which have been soaked and blanched. Add a cupful of rich jellyed stock and a half dozen mushrooms minced fine. Cook ten minutes. Draw the saucepan to the back of the stove, add the yolks of three eggs, beaten and mixed with a little of the hot sauce to prevent their curdling, salt, pepper and a half glass of Madeira. If the mixture is not soft and creamy add a few tablespoonsful of rich milk or cream. Spread the mixture on a platter to cool. When ice cold it should be firm enough to mold. Form into croquettes, dip into beaten egg and then in grated bread crumbs, and fry in boiling fat. Garnish with green parsley and serve at once.

Something in a Name. "Yes, there is something in a name. There's my wife, for instance." "What about her?" "Why, her name is Olive and I didn't like her at all at first."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Doing His Duty. Big Sister—Dick, I think it is time little folks were in bed. Little Dick (on Mr. Niciefellow's knee)—Oh, it's all right. Mamma said I was to stay here until she came downstairs.—Tit-Bits.

Hate. "Nor are men strong in their hates!" quoth she, proceeding with her indictment. "I guess that's no joke," replied he. "Anyway, you never see men kissing each other."—Detroit Journal.

The Greater Unhappy Lot. Pickpocket (in Chicago)—Howdy, George! What luck to-day? Hold-Up Man (Secretly)—Rotten! A couple of detectives held me up about an hour ago and made me cough up every cent I had.—Puck.

Not a Case of True Love. He—I point out your faults because I love you. She—Nonsense! If you really loved me you would think my faults were excellences.—Tit-Bits.

A Previous Engagement. "Lawn mowers are not so bad." "Why not?" "Why, when my wife wants me to hang pictures, I tell her I have to cut the grass."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Our Severest Critics. Penfield—Is that a good book of his? Merritt—It must be. His friends won't believe he wrote it.—Judge.

White Man Turned Yellow. Great consternation was felt by the friends of M. A. Hogarty of Lexington, Ky., when they saw he was turning yellow. His skin slowly changed color, also his eyes, and he suffered terribly. His malady was Yellow Jaundice. He was treated by the best doctors, but without benefit. Then he was advised to try Electric Bitters, the wonderful Stomach and Liver remedy, and he writes: "After taking two bottles I was wholly cured." A trial proves its matchless merit for all Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles. Only 50c. Sold by all druggists.

"C" With a Tail. The "C" with a tail is the trademark of Cascarets Candy Cathartic. Look for it on the light blue enameled metal box! Each tablet stamped C. C. C. Never sold in bulk. All druggists, etc.

Giving Away Family Secrets. "Bridget told Mrs. Nezdor that I was a henpecked fool; shall I discharge her?" "At once! Bridget has no right to tell our family secrets to the neighbors."—Tit-Bits.

An Explanation. Little Willie—Say, pa, why is it wrong to call a man a liar? Pa—Because, my son, if he isn't it will hurt his feelings, and if he is the chances are he will hurt yours.—Chicago Daily News.
